TUESDAY, JUNE 15 1736.

N<sup>o</sup> 302.

Yesterday arrived a Mail from Holland.

Petersburg, May 22. O. S.

We have Advice from Persia, that Thamas Kouli Kan had assembled the Grandees of the Kingdom, and declared to them, that he was inclinable to resign the Post of Regent; but that upon their strenuous Instances, he had not only kept the Office of Generalissimo, but also accepted the Title of Sophi of Persia which was offered him. 'Tis also said, that the Kan of the Calmucks, who are under the Protection of Russia, has intirely defeated an Army of 40,000 Tartars, Calmucks and Cossacks, of Cuban.

Vienna, May 29. O. S. This Court has resolved to have no Concern in the War between Russia and the Porte, till they have employ'd their good Offices with those Powers to reconcile them. The Emperor has sent Orders to M. Tahlman, his Minister at Constantinople, to take upon him the Character of Ambassador, and in that Quality to offer the Mediation of his Imperial Majesty for an Accommodation of the Disputes between Russia and the Porte; but that if his Offer was not accepted, he should take his Audience of Leave and come away. A Letter is given about at Court, in form of a Memorial, from Petersburg, containing the Motives which oblige the Czarina to make War against the Turks. It appears from the said Letter, that her Czarian Majesty was only determined to take this Step, from the undeniable Proofs put into her Hands of the Designs which they had formed against her. The Turks, adds the Letter-writer, have done every Thing in their Power for these many Years to stir up Broils against Russia. They have excited the Tartars, and engaged them to make Incursions upon the Russian Territory, and there to commit the most grievous Insults. The Turks aim'd to attack Russia two Years ago, while her Arms were employ'd in Poland, only the Misfortune in their War with Persia hindered them from putting their Design in Execution. Since that time, they have animated the Crim Tartars to make an Invasion on the Territories belonging to the Crown of Russia; and the Aversion of the Turks to the Russians has appeared even in the Affairs of Persia. Nevertheless the Russian Court, to shew their pacifick Disposition, would have forgot their old Grievances, if the Porte would but have consented to the Proposal which was made to it, of comprehending this Power in their Treaty of Peace on foot with the Persians; but the Porte rejected a Proposal so resonable, and only wanted to make Peace with the Persians, on purpose to make War with the Russians. These, and such as these, adds the Letter, are the well-grounded Motives which determine the Conduct of the Court of Russia upon this Occasion. 'Tis certain, that the Porte has acted, in a manner, offensive to the Court of Russia, by refusing to include them in the Peace with the Persians. Nay, the Emperor himself has done his Endeavours to determine the Porte to this Concurrence, and his Minister at Constantinople has left no Stone unturned for that Purpose; but his Labour was all in vain, and it has plainly shewn, the ill Designs of the Turks against Russia. We foresee here, that if this Power goes to War with the Porte, it will reduce the Turks to very fatal Extremities. For the Emperor, as an Ally of the Court of Russia, will be obliged to make his Troops act at the same time as those of Muscovy. The Turkish Provinces in Europe will then be the natural Object of a Diversion. The Republick of Venice, which has the same Interests to pursue as the Emperor, with regard to the Turks, will also be very glad to make themselves some Amends for the Prejudices they have suffered from the Otoman Empire. There, we apprehend, will be the Consequences of this new War, in which the Turks will be obliged to cope with three Powers in Europe, and at the same time to maintain a numerous Army on the Side of Persia, in order to stop the Progress of the valorous Thamas Kouli Kan.

'Tis reported, that the Baron de Nieuhoff has sent a Letter to the Emperor's Ministry, notifying his Arrival in the Island of Corsica, the Motives that engag'd him to repair thither, and the Success of his Enterprize, with a most humble Request to his Imperial Majesty not to oppose him.

Hanover, June 4. O. S. On the 2d, the King of Great Britain, our Elector, saw a French Comedy at Herrenhausen, as he did another this Day. Horace Walpole, Esq; arrived here Yesterday from the Hague with a numerous Retinue, and went to lodge at the House which was occupied last Year by the Lord Harrington. Soon after his Arrival, he went to Herrenhausen to pay his Duty to the King, who gave him a very gracious Reception.

Dresden, May 31. O. S. Our Regency has an Order from the King, to appoint Commissioners for taking an Inventory of the Goods and Chattles of the late unfortunate Count de Hoym, which, 'tis supposed, will be all confiscated to the King, it having been discovered, that he has done his Majesty considerable Prejudice by his Misdemeanors.

Berlin, June 5. O. S. An Account is published here, to prove, that the Lord Theodore, whose Stay in Corsica makes so much Noise, is no other than the famous Baron de Syberg, who has made himself known in Holland, and elsewhere, by his pretended Secrets. 'Tis observed in this Narrative, that the Baron de Syberg was arrested at the Close of last Year at Memmingen in Bavaria, for having abused the Confidence of several Persons, particularly the Abbot and Prince of Kempten; that, during his Detainer, he formed the Design against the Island of Corsica; and that, after he was set at Liberty, he repaired to Rome, where he found Means to get his Project imparted to, and approved by a certain Power, which furnished him with the Money and Ammunition necessary for his Voyage to Corsica. Tho' this Narrative is printed with a License, yet 'tis thought that the Particulars of it need Confirmation.

Edinburgh, June 7. On Saturday last died the Rev. and learned Mr. Matthew Crawford, Professor of Ecclesiastical History, and Regius Professor of Theology in the University of Edinburgh, in the 54th Year of his Age. Mr. Crawford had been Minister in the Parish of Inchennan, in the Presbytery of Paisly, for the Space of 11 Years, and afterwards was presented to the Professorship by his late Majesty King George, and served in that honourable Station above 14 Years. He was a hard Student, an accomplished Scholar, a good Divine, and an excellent Historian, a great Master of the Jewish, Greek, and Roman Antiquities, and understood the Belle Letter, and the present State of Learning above many: He was much conversant in Books of the most useful Knowledge; and having, in his younger Years, been Keeper of the Library of the College of Glasgow for the Space of four Years, he laid such a Foundation then, that he came afterwards to know exactly the best Editions, and the true Value of Books. He could give a good Account of most of the Families in the Nation, which made his Conversation very instructing and entertaining; and, in fine, he was firmly and remarkably attached to the true Interests of this Church, and to the fast approved of the Part he had acted in Ecclesiastical Judicatories, for promoting the Honour, Peace, and Welfare thereof: And now the Loss of such a valuable Person is much lamented by his Family and Friends, by his Colleagues in the University, who had a particular Regard for him, his Brethren in the Ministry, and by all who had the Advantage of his Acquaintance: And Yesterday he was attended to the Place of his Interment by a great Number of Persons of Honour and Distinction, the Professors and Doctors of the University, assisting in their Formalities, with their Mace carried before them in Mourning.

Edinburgh, June 8. On Friday a certain Youth of this City went in to the Council-chamber, and complained to the Magistrates, 'That he having, the Night before, been in a House of Pleasure in Canongate, had agreed with a Wench for half a Crown, and accordingly — ; but that he soon after found Miss had picked his Pockets for him: Therefore craved Justice, &c.' Madam being convened, she acknowledged the Facts alledged, and had little to plead in Defence, but that she had as good Title to examine a Gallant's Pocket, as he had to use her Person: But no Regard could be had to this, in respect the Gentleman had paid down her Price before Infestment. However, the Magistrates ordered her to return the 22 s. she had robbed him of; but there is no recovering Money out of the Hands of such a Factor, so that the Damiel was sent forthwith to the House of Correction. Monsieur seemed pretty well satisfied, till the Act of Parliament, taxing such illicite Adventures at 100 l. Scots, was read to him: This made him storm and bawl out, and declining to obtemper, he was sent to Prison; but, after a few Minutes Confinement, we are told, he paid down the Mult; and if he has sustained any other Loss by the Conference with Madam, he is a very proper Hand to cure himself.

On Saturday Morning the Hon<sup>r</sup> Magistrates of this City, in surveying the Butter-market, made a Seizure of a great many Pounds of Butter, at least what the Country People were selling for Pound Weight, being some Ounces under Standard, and gave the whole to the Poor; and the Proprietors of the Butter had been fined into the Bargain, had they not run for it.

Yesterday in the Afternoon, while the last Psalm was a singing in the Town Church, a large and very black Cat, which probably had fain asleep on the Roof of a Loft, and was now awaked with the Noise, jumped down into a Window, thence up to the Pulpit, and settled upon the Book that lay before Mr. Duncan the Minister, whom she seemed to stare in the Face, to the small Astonishment of the Congregation; but at last Puss, recovering of the Fright, got off.

Dublin, June 8. We have the following Account from the County of Roscommon: Two young Gentlemen of the Name of Crofton (Relations to Sir Edward Crofton) were sent by their Father to desirous certain Lands in that County for Rent. The Tenant, whose Name is Hawks, apprised of their coming, had provided Arms, and stood upon his Defence. When the Croftons were preparing to drive the Cattle to Pound, the Tenant met them with a Gun in his Hand, and swore he would fire upon the first Person that would touch a Beast of his. The Elder Crofton not regarding his Threats, attempted to seize the Cattle. Mr. Hawks was as good as his Word, he levelled his Gun loaded with Swan-shot, and discharged it at him, by which one of his Arms was shatter'd to Pieces, and Part of his Face shot away. The younger Brother who was at some Distance, seeing the elder Brother fall, rid up to his Assistance, with a Pistol in his Hand, which he attempted to discharge at Hawks, but it miss'd Fire; before he could draw the second, Hawks turn'd the Butt-end of his Gun and struck him with it over the Head, by which he fractur'd his Scull in two Places. When the Letters came away, neither of the Brothers were dead. Mr. Hawks has made his Escape.

The Ballast Office in this City is preparing 1000 Yards of Sail Cloth, manufactured in this Kingdom, in Imitation of the best Holland Duck, in order to be sent to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty in England.

Sunday last died at his House in Church-street, Edmund Malone, Esq; formerly a Practitioner of the Law, and a Gentleman of a fair Character.

Norwich, June 12. One Day last Week three Men were at Work in a Marl-pit at Thorpe, and the Earth opened, and killed one Ellis of Halvergate, bruised another, and the third escaped with only a Fright.

Last Sunday a Child about 4 Years of Age, being at Play at the Buck-Streath in St. Martin's in the Oak, fell into the River, and was drowned.

On Wednesday a Mason's Apprentice going to wash himself in the River, slipped out of his Reach; but timely Help and proper Assistance being used, it is hoped he will recover.

Yesterday being the Anniversary of his Majesty's Accession to the Crown, it was observed here with the usual Demonstrations of Joy and Loyalty. The Hon. Artillery Company marched to Sheriff Humfrey's, where they were treated very handsomely, and about 8, at Night marched before the Mayor and Court, and followed by the Dragoons of Col. Kerr's Regiment having Captain Lemmon at their Head. When they came into the Market-place, the Court went into Guild-hall, and drank several loyal Healths.

when the Bonfire was lighted, the Mayor and Court came thither in their Formalities, attended by the Officers of the Artillery Company, and of the Dragoons, and other Persons of Note, where they drank Healths to their Majesties, the Royal Family, Sir Robert Walpole, and others of known Loyalty; during which the Dragoons fired several Volleys, and Mr. Mayor was pleased to order them three Guineas and a half to drink his Majesty's Health. The Artillery Company also fired several Volleys; and the Evening concluded with a general Joy and Tranquility.

I am informed, that Thomas Wright, Philip Ward, alias Ratts, John Wright, and Samuel Sawyer, are now in Ipswich Gaol for Burglary and Felony; Benjamin Girling, and Matthias Woods in Beccles Gaol, upon Suspicion of Burglary and Felony; Henry Bezant, Edward Gillings of Dickleburgh, and — Smith of Harleston, were taken up by the Watch, and are in the same Gaol, upon Suspicion: And Warrants are out against John English of Linfield, Robert Barber of Wetherdale, John Hayward and John Bicker, both of Laxfield, Shoemakers, Roger Bicker of Cratfield, John Stollery, and John Woods of Laxfield aforesaid, for Burglary and Felony. The House of Henry Manning of Weybread in Suffolk, was broke open the 25th of May last, and several Silver Spoons, some Money, and other Things, were stolen away in the Night; and since that, a Widow's House in Halesworth in Suffolk, has been broke open, and she was robbed of her Money and several other Things; and 'tis supposed that these, and several other Felonies and Burglaries, have been committed by some of the same Gang.

On Wednesday last Elizabeth Thompson, who was condemned the 23d of April, for the Murder of the Dutchman at Yarmouth, was executed there about 4 in the Afternoon. She went in a Coach to the Gallows, in which were four Clergymen with her. She was dressed in her Shroud, and to the last denied her being guilty of the Fact, saying, She was brought as a Lamb to the Slaughter, and hoped God would forgive her innocent Soul. She left no such Thing as a dying Speech or Confession, and if any thing should appear in Print as such, it will be only an Imposition on the Publick. She died a most hardened Wretch, and even the Day before her Execution cursed and swore in a sad Manner. She gave a Shriek, and clapped her Hands, just as the Cart drew away; and, after she was cut down, was put into a Herse, and carried to Gorlstone to be buried.

Ipswich, June 12. Yesterday being his Majesty's happy Accession to the Throne, the same was ushered in by ringing of Bells, and at Noon the Magistrates in their Formalities appeared on the Town-hall, where the Healths of the King, Queen, Prince and Princess of Wales, and all the Royal Family, were drank; after which there was a most elegant Entertainment at the Houle of John Cornelius, Esq; one of the said Magistrates, and at which were present all the Gentlemen of the Neighbourhood. In the Evening there was a Hoghead of Beer given to the Populace, and from the Market-Cross the first Fireworks were played off that ever were seen in these Parts, and other Demonstrations of Joy, in Honour to his Majesty and all the Royal Family.
